

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. PREFACE.

IT is, no doubt, somewhat a hazardous undertaking to add another to the large number of Yearbooks which are already in existence, but the OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE YEARBOOK supplies so obvious a want that an apology is scarcely needed for its appearance. It is, indeed, strange that among the hundreds of Reference Books, Directories, and the like, there is no volume to which one can turn for the whereabouts of University men or such. The names of a large proportion may certainly be found in the various professional lists, but in very many cases there is no evidence of their University training and connection.

The object of the OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE YEARBOOK is to give particulars of the degree—together with any other distinctions—present occupation, and address of all now living who have graduated or who are entitled to graduate at either Oxford or Cambridge, and to a large extent this aim may be said to have been realised.

An estimate of the number of Oxford and Cambridge men now alive, and a comparison of such estimate with the number of names in this book, will show that very few are omitted.

I have no wish to enlarge upon the difficulties of getting together the information given herein, but I may point out that these are greater than they would be were the names inserted there of the members of a single profession, or gentlemen confined by their calling to a certain locality. Oxford and Cambridge men are found engaged in all kinds of professions and trades, and residing in all quarters of the world. Moreover, rather more than one-half of the men who "go down" remove their names from their College books, and hence cannot be communicated with through this medium.

Taking these considerations into account, the total information given herein cannot be considered as other than satisfactory. I estimate that almost ninety per cent. of the entries contain, or nearly contain, the required information, and in an additional five per cent. some details are given, but they are not complete.

I have been unable to learn any particulars concerning the remaining five per cent., and so have inserted merely the name, College, and details of the degrees. It is well to remember, however, that these names are principally those of the younger members of the Universities, many of whom will during the next two or three years take their places in the ranks of the clerical, legal, medical, and other recognised professions.

There is one class to whom, perhaps, an apology is due. I refer to the more distinguished graduates of the two Universities. In a volume containing considerably over 30,000 names there must be considerable compression, and such compression falls largely upon those who have attained eminence. It is impossible in a few lines to do justice to the manifold distinctions and achievements of Lord Kelvin or Mr. James Bryce, so whilst a good deal is said about these and other eminent men, the main purpose of the book as one for the rank and file has been kept steadily in sight.

In this connection I should mention that in cases where gentlemen have written a large number of books it has been found impossible to give the names of all, and so either the more important have been selected for mention or those showing the main lines of the author's work.

Any editor of a volume like this one finds, I am sure, considerable difficulty over what are known as "double-barrelled" names. The same name is often written in two different ways, and one hardly knows which is the initial letter of the surname. Again, members of the same family are often found with the name written in different ways. In doubtful cases I have followed the usage of the University Calendar, but will gladly alter any name in which such usage is incorrect.

My attention has been drawn to the fact that until forty years ago the examination authorities at Oxford granted an honorary fourth class to pass candidates who did exceptionally well. These fourth classes have been merged in the general body of fourth classes, and so the special distinction of the "honorary fourth" is lost. I have inserted the word "hon." where I knew it was a case of this kind, and will willingly add this to any other degrees which are entitled to it.

While these pages have been passing through the press I have kept myself acquainted with the inevitable changes in public and professional life, and so have brought the book as up-to-date as possible. Some changes have doubtless escaped my attention, a risk which will be minimised very much in future years, when the YEARBOOK will take considerably less time in preparation.

I need hardly add that I shall be pleased to receive and note any such changes, any errors which have crept in, any details of fresh appointments, particulars of any names omitted; in short, of any information which will make the volume more serviceable. It is impossible for any editor, however industrious and however vigilant, to make this YEARBOOK as useful as it ought to be, and as it may be, unless he has the co-operation of University men in all parts of the world, and for such assistance I do not think I shall ask in vain.

I have to thank correspondents in all quarters of the globe for valuable information. In some cases my wants have been anticipated, in all cases they have been met with courtesy and promptitude. In this connection I should like especially to thank Mr. R. B. Fellows, of the Local Government Board; Mr. G. H. Whitehead, of the London Stock Exchange; Mr. V. R. Sells, of the Oxford Appointments Committee; and Mr. F. S. A. Lowndes for their kindness in furnishing me with serviceable facts.

SOCIETY FOR THE ABOLITION OF VIVISECTION,

23, Northumberland Avenue, W.C.

In 1876 "The Cruelty to Animals Act" was passed which regulates vivisection at the present time. The Act begins by saying:—No vivisector may perform an experiment without a license or in a place not registered for that purpose; the animal must be under complete anæsthesia during the experiment, and must be destroyed under its influence if on recovery from the anæsthetic it is likely to suffer pain: experiments must not be performed for the attainment of manual skill or as illustrations at lectures, &c."

These are the conditions which a person holding an "ordinary license" must adhere to.

The Act then goes on to say that if under the foregoing conditions the vivisector is unable to attain the result he desires, then he may (on obtaining a certificate) perform experiments in illustration at lectures, he may perform experiments without killing the animal before it recovers consciousness, and he may even perform the operation itself without an anæsthetic.

The Cruelty to Animals Act can be obtained from any Law Stationer at a trifling cost.

Contributions in aid of the above Society will be gratefully acknowledged by the Secretary.

The Committee are obliged to make an appeal for Subscriptions, Donations, and Bequests.

1. For the GENERAL FUND: the expenses of which amount to about £5 a day.
2. For the CHILD'S FUND: a few guineas to pay the nurse and doctor would, in many cases, rescue mother and child. Five shillings would pay for a child for a week.
3. For LAW EXPENSES: in every case, if it be possible, the men are compelled to pay the sum allowed by law for the child's support.

The applications for admission are painfully urgent, and the charity is wholly dependent on voluntary contributions. It is hard to witness the anguish and sorrow of those who apply and to pass them over for lack of funds.

The Secretary will be happy to furnish a full Report.
